

Record Smelt Harvest Seen

Local fish buyers reported today that the smelt run in local streams was heavier last night than any time before in local history.

"How many tons do you want?" one local buyer asked in response to an inquiry about the smelt situation.

Smelt were running prolifically in virtually every river and stream in Delta County. Full nets in a single dip were not uncommon.

The price of smelt to pond netters remains firm at a cent to a cent and a half a pound but the dip net smelt were not in much demand.

Jumbo smelt, however, command a price of 4c a pound and fish buyers said that they would purchase all that they can get. Many netters were sorting their catches, keeping only those nine inches and over and returning the others to the streams.

Many dip netters who were unable to find a market for their catches took the fish home and cleaned them. The cleaned smelt bring 6c a pound and fish buyers reported that they would take all the cleaned smelt offered to them.

The canning plant at Gladstone is processing 100,000 pounds of smelt daily for the Whitey Cat Food company.

ANCIENT CORN — Fossilized cobs found in a bat cave in New Mexico shed new light on the origin of corn. Paul C. Mangelsdorf, Harvard professor, holds a 5500-year-old cob, hardly bigger than a present-day kernel.

Bank Debits Show Increase

Bank debits in Escanaba during March were the second highest in the Upper Peninsula and were 13% higher than in March 1953, the Ninth Federal Reserve District has announced.

Marquette reported the largest bank debits in the Upper Peninsula for March, $11,835,000. Escanaba reported $10,979. Marquette also reported the largest bank debits for the three months period January-March, inclusive, $28,862,000; with Escanaba second, $26,307,000. Bank debits in Escanaba for the three months period were 14% higher than for the corresponding period a year ago. Marquette's gain for the same period was 12%.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors accounts and represent payment for goods, debt, etc. They are indicative of business trends.

Bank debits in the Upper Peninsula for March, 1954, compared with March, 1953, and for the first quarter of the year, listed in thousands of dollars, follow:

Stephenson School Site Dispute Is Settled By Court

STEPHENSON—A Menominee Circuit Court jury Tuesday afternoon affirmed need of the Stephenson school district to acquire additional land as a site for an elementary school building by condemnation, if necessary and fixed the sum of $3,000 as a reasonable price for the property desired. The case was heard before Judge Richard Nebel, Munising, who has been presiding at this week's court term in the absence of Judge Glenn W. Jackson, Gladstone.

The property is approximately 540x440 feet and lies adjacent to Sawbridge Athletic Field next to Stephenson High School. Excluded from the tract is a lot, 150x150 feet, on which a home is located.

Agreement between the Stephenson Board of Education and Mrs. Laura Rouse, Chicago, principal owner of the property, had been reached for purchase of the site at the $3,000 figure. However, the property's title was cloudy in that the deed under which Mrs. Rouse obtained the property from her mother, the late Mrs. Anna E. Wheeler, described a portion of the land as being in the wrong forty. Mrs. Wheeler died in 1928 and her estate was never probated.

In its finding yesterday, the jury affirmed need of Stephenson school district for the property, agreed the $3,000 purchase figure was reasonable but left the matter of assignment of $3,000 to the Menominee Probate Court on determination of heirs of Mrs. Wheeler.

Farm Home Of Stanley Bugay, Harris, Burns

HARRIS — The farm home of Stanley Bugay, who lives south of Harris, was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. The family lost all its possessions in the fire.

An overheated stove is thought to have caused the fire. Bugay suffered burns.

Ordered Sent To Ionia After He Had Damaged Jail

Clarence E. Stearns, 47, of Gladstone was ordered committed to the mental hospital at Ionia, following a hearing in an adjourned session of circuit court here before Judge Glenn Jackson yesterday afternoon.

Stearns, who has been committed previously as criminally insane, was placed in detention here about two weeks ago. Destruction of jail fixtures was the basis of the criminal insane charge placed against him this time.

He was ordered detained at Ionia until "restored to sanity."

Rail Officials Visit Escanaba

A plea in behalf of the Chicago and North Western Railway system and the vital part it plays in the every day life of Escanaba and vicinity was voiced by several top officials of the railway system during their visit here yesterday.

Making up the group were J. E. Goodwin, of Chicago, vice president of operations; D. R. Meyers, of Chicago, chief superintendent of engineers; John Cantwell, Green Bay, superintendent of the northern district and George Stuart, superintendent of the local division.

Addressing members of railway unions, dock workers and the railroad brotherhoods Tuesday morning Goodwin asked for their active cooperation in bringing home to the general public the fact that wider use of railroad facilities in this area will have to be made if the local railroad industries, which employ so many people here, are to remain in Escanaba.

On Inspection Tour

The officials stated that they were here on a routine inspection trip and not to sound any warning or issue any threats.

In an interview later in the day Goodwin stated, "You have noted, I suppose, certain changes that have been made and heard rumors to the effect that we are going to move our Escanaba shops and offices to Green Bay." Goodwin stressed that the C&NW Railway system would be extremely reluctant to do so and would make such a move only through extreme necessity.

"But I am forced to admit that this situation depends on a lot of things—all based on business."

Railroad business is gradually falling away, he said. Some of this decline might be due to current conditions, but this, he said, is not the serious problem. The C&NW system is gravely concerned with the fact that much of the transportation business in and out of Escanaba is going to other forms of shipping and passenger service.

He cited the ore shipping situation. This year, up to April 20, the C&NW in this division handled 21,821 tons of ore. For a corresponding period last year the amount handled was 503,000 tons. And this year's business is not expected to show signs of improvement, he added.

Area's Biggest Employer

This, said Goodwin, was partly the reason why one of the ore docks is out of commission this season.

But still, local business which the railroad desires to get but which is going elsewhere, is the most serious threat to the continuance of shops and offices here, he said, adding that this deflection in shipping amounts to many thousands of tons.

The situation, he declared, is not only vital to the railroad but to the hundreds of men and women employed here.

The C&NW, he said, is by far the largest single employer in the city and the wages paid are substantial. It is also the biggest taxpayer in the county. This, he declared, represents purchasing power that is vital to Escanaba's growth and stability.

Employees' Help Sought

"We have asked our employees here to let the people with whom they trade know how much the prosperity of company business means to them. They have been asked to discuss the situation as widely as possible," said Goodwin, "and I feel confident that when the people of Escanaba come to realize how serious our problem is, they will act accordingly."

Hiawatha Post VFW Installs Officers

Newly elected officers of Hiawatha Post 2889, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were installed with officers of its Auxiliary at a joint meeting held Tuesday evening in Grenier's Hall. Emil Kallio was installing officer for the Post, and Mrs. Ernest Rudolph installed the Auxiliary officers.

New officers of the post are as follows:

Arie Rian, commander; William St. Cyr, senior vice commander; Fred Nelson, junior vice commander; Jacob Bink, quartermaster; Wilfred Doucette, adjutant; Nick Chapekis, post advocate.

Gerald Bink, chaplain; Dr. John J. Walch, surgeon; Archie Wood, patriotism officer; Percy Owen, post historian; Emil Kallio, service officer; Wilfred Doucette, national home representative; Jacob Bink, legislative officer.

Trustees Einar Sivertson, 18 months; Reino Maatta, 12 months; William Thompson, six months; Ralph Drage, sergeant major; Reino Maatta, quartermaster sergeant; Francis Guay, guard; Ervie Borden and Henry Deloria, color bearers.

An innovation in transportation that is proving very effective elsewhere and which Goodwin recommended for Escanaba shippers, is the "Piggy Back" system whereby truckers with long haul assignments could load their trailers here on flatcars and ship them to their destinations. The railroad would take care of unloading and hauling to consignees. This, he said, would be profitable cooperation between the railroad and its most serious rival and help all concerned.

Efficiency In Farms Urged

Agriculture generally shows little signs of being able to shake off the effects of a severe case of low-price high-costitis, states J. C. Young, local supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration. Prospects for reduced farm income have dulled the incentive to expand operations or to operate at or near capacities, Young said. Many have developed a "wait and see" attitude.

This situation, said Mr. Young, is not a healthy state of mind for farmers to be in, nor is it financially sound. Some farmers can weather the storm by curtailment of operations and caution, but many farmers, including those with under-stocked and under-equipped units, may face extinction under this process. Greatest emphasis is upon volume of business, which will permit more efficient production, Young stated. With prices of breeding stock at a low point, this is the proper time to bring farm units up to capacity production, he said. Additional farm machinery, although not off any in price, may also be a timely investment to cut labor costs and improve output.

To many bona-fide farm operators the necessary credit to purchase needed stock and equipment is available through local banks and other loaning institutions. However, to those farmers who are unable to work out a satisfactory line of credit locally, the Department of Agriculture provides a source of credit through the Farmers Home Administration office servicing each county. The Farmers Home Administration extends loans to purchase livestock, equipment and supplies, and to provide land and buildings. Available with this credit is technical advice in the selection and application of proper farming practices for the particular farm.

Applications may be made, or further information obtained, by contacting the Farmers Home Administration office serving Delta and Schoolcraft Counties, located in the Federal Building in Escanaba.

Cooler And Cloudy Is Local Friday Weather Forecast

Colder tonight and partly cloudy tomorrow is the weather prediction today by the Escanaba Weather Bureau.

Temperatures will rise generally throughout the Upper Peninsula tomorrow, says S. E. Decker, weather observer, but adds that southerly winds from off Lake Michigan may have a tendency to keep temperatures lower than average in Escanaba. Locally yesterday's high was 53 and low 38. Tomorrow's low is expected to hover around 34 with frost or near frost in low places.

Editorials—

These Are Difficult Days In The Field Of Labor Relations

THE strike notice authorized by the Birds Eye Local of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners does not necessarily mean that the local veneer plant will be closed by labor trouble.

A similar notice was authorized recently by the UAW local at Harnischfeger but the union and management ultimately reached agreement without a work stoppage. It is probable that this happy solution may be reached in the case of the Birds Eye contract negotiations.

The differences of opinion that occasionally develop between labor and management in this area are seldom as serious as they are in metropolitan areas. The attitudes of officials on both sides of the labor negotiations are vastly different. There is respect and understanding and these factors go a long way in reaching amicable solution of difficult problems.

These are difficult times in the field of labor relations. We are just completing a long spiral of inflation during which there have been periodic wage increases to correspond with a steady rise in the cost of living.

The spiral of inflation has ended and there must necessarily be a period of stabilization. Labor cannot be criticized if it questions whether the cost of living will remain stable and, of course, industry cannot be criticized if it seeks to hold the line at a time when it recognizes that the era of easy money is about over.

Thomas, a former congressman who was sent to jail for payroll padding, was shellacked by a vote of 35,000 for his opponent, Rep. William B. Widnall, to 5,000 for Thomas.

Thomas ran as a "1,000 percent" supporter of Sen. McCarthy. His opponent ran as a solid supporter of Pres. Eisenhower. Perhaps the major reason for the political result, however, was the fact that Parnell Thomas had a notorious record in the seven years that he served as congressman. He was convicted of payroll padding in 1949 and sent off to jail. It was hardly a record that warranted vindication at the polls, with or without the issue of McCarthyism. Apparently Thomas thought the McCarthy name was of a powerful enough significance to overcome even the bad record that Thomas established in Congress. It just wasn't so.

NO GOLDFISH (Christian Science Monitor)

The Winnipeg School Board has come down solidly and properly on the subject of "goldfishing." A "goldfish," as previously reported in these columns, is a pupil who, in order to add numbers to certain classroom choruses in the Manitoba Music Festival, merely opened his mouth soundlessly in order not to be off key.

This method of competition clearly was less than fair to choruses whose members really sang whether their voices were good or not, since participation of 75 per cent of the class was one of the requirements.

"There's an element of cheating in it—there is no getting away from that," said Joseph Zuken one of the trustees. Another called the practice "morally wrong." Accurately the board members attributed the abuse to an excessive spirit of competition.

As in the case of the "overemphasis" on football, which has been deplored in the United States, education suffers when the accent is too heavily on winning instead of on the pleasure of the game—or the singing. Something is gained when public opinion disapproves fake injuries to stall for time near the end of a game when a college disqualifies a high-scoring basketball player for persistent failure to attend classes, or when a school board in Canada denounces "goldfishing."

The only acceptable goldfish are those that either sing their scales or wear them under water.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The inside story of how the Eisenhower administration indicted a Las Vegas publisher at the behest of Joe McCarthy is one of the most amazing Washington has seen in a long time.

The real fact is that McCarthy didn't actually want the publisher prosecuted. Certain Justice Department officials pushed the action despite him and probably to embarrass him.

What happened was that Hank Greenspun, editor and publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, wrote a column on January 8 that "Joe has to come to a violent end... live by the sword and you die by the sword!" Greenspun continued, "Destroy people and they in turn must destroy you..."

McCarthy sent a copy of this column to Postmaster General Summerfield as a move to take second-class mailing privileges from the Las Vegas Sun. That apparently was as far as he wanted to go. Obviously if he had wanted criminal prosecution he would have sent the column direct to the Justice Department to which he has referred various other matters in the past.

JOE'S FRIEND

McCarthy happens to be chairman of the Senate subcommittee for post office appropriations, thus has a powerful hold on Summerfield. Once before they put their heads together to embarrass another McCarthy critic—Henry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune—when Summerfield furnished McCarthy under-the-table figures on Luce's profits and McCarthy proceeded to build a fire against the magazines' second-class mailing privileges.

Furthermore, Summerfield has been one of Joe's consistent fiends inside the cabinet and was the man who, during the election campaign, took Joe up the service elevator of the Pere Marquette hotel in Peoria, Ill., to persuade Eisenhower to drop any praise of General Marshall from his Milwaukee speech.

However, when Attorney General Brownell heard about McCarthy's complaint to the post office, he decided to examine it carefully. And in the Greenspun column Justice Department officials found that McCarthy was described as a "disreputable pervert."

This was a charge Greenspun had been making about McCarthy for some time and getting away with it. McCarthy had not sued, though copies of the newspapers containing these charges had been mailed all over the United States.

Brownell, therefore, took the entire column and made it a matter of court record, with the result that it has now become privileged and has been quoted by other publications with complete immunity. In other words, Brownell did to McCarthy what McCarthy did to General Marshall and others when he launched attacks on them from the libel-proof safety of the Senate floor.

Brownell did this by indicting Greenspun on the ground that he incited attacks on McCarthy's life. But it's significant that he did not cite the perversion charge as grounds for criminal libel though he could have done so. Nor did he delete this part of the Greenspun column. He made it all a matter of court record.

Note—Greenspun came into the U. S. District Court in Nevada the other day to face charges, but neither the U. S. attorney nor the U. S. marshal nor the judge seemed much interested. They finally told him to come back next fall when a new judge would be appointed. Judge Roger Foley said he wasn't going to try the case himself (he's a friend of Greenspun's). They didn't even ask the publisher to post bail.

PUZZLED NIXON

When Vice President Nixon finished his now famous anonymous speech to editors, newsmen warned him:

"This speech is going to raise Cain, and we want to be sure just how we can use it."

"What do you refer to?" asked Nixon. "What I said about Syngman Rhee?"

"No, what you said about Indo-China," Nixon was told.

However, he still didn't understand what newsmen were driving at until they spelled out specifically that it was his statement on the use of troops in Indo-China.

Reason was not that Nixon was hedging or playing dumb. He had been immersed in the Indo-Chinese problem for several weeks, and had discussed the possible use of U. S. troops in Indo-China so many items in Security Council circles that he didn't realize the impact it would make on editors and the American public generally.

Chief significance is that the use of troops, if necessary, has been decided as a matter of definite Eisenhower policy; furthermore, was decided some time ago.

BENSON WON'T BUDGE

While public debate over rigid price supports continues on the Senate floor, here are some of the things that have been happening off the floor in Senate cloak-rooms.

President Eisenhower has passed word through his close friend, Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, that he might agree to a one-year extension of rigid price supports. This would be an acceptable compromise to Sen. Milt Young of North Dakota, Republican, and Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana, Democrat the two leaders of the farm bloc who are pushing hardest for rigid price supports.

However, it is not acceptable to Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, the potent Southern leader. Russell says farm price supports must be extended for two years, not one. He argues that farmers must have continuity of crop-planting, must be able to plan for more than a year in advance.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is parity?

A—Parity—as applied to farm prices and income—is a formula to measure the purchasing power of the farmer's income from sale of his produce. Current prices and income are compared to levels in a base period. If a farmer gets 100 per cent of parity for a bushel of corn, the proceeds of that sale will buy him as many Sunday neckties as the price of corn bought during the base period. Corn and some other farm products now are supported at 90 per cent of parity.

This Is the "New Look"?

Boss Of All NATO Air Power Bantam Who Gets Things Done

By NEA Foreign Service

FONTAINEBLEAU, France — (NEA)—American air power in central Europe—down to the last Matador guided missile and F-86 Sabrejet—is under a bantam-weight Britisher with a heavy-weight drive for getting things done.

He is Air Chief Marshal Sir Basil Embry, at 52 the youngest full general officer in the Royal Air Force.

As commander of NATO air forces in central Europe (AIRCENT)—which is three years old this month—Embry exercises operational control over the 10 U. S. combat wings flying under the American 12th Air Force in France and West Germany.

Should war come, he would deploy the USAF's growing fleet of NATO-committed tactical A-bomb carriers under the overall direction of Gen. Lauris Norstad, SHAPE air deputy. Norstad guided AIRCENT during its formative first two years, turning it over to Embry last July.

In Embry and Norstad, the Atlantic Pact alliance boasts a top-drawer tandem the Kremlin would find hard to match in brains, ability, and a record for meteoric rise in their respective services.

Who is this man who commands the NATO air elements of the U. S., United Kingdom, France, Canada, Belgium and The Netherlands—the bulk of the organization's standing air force?

During World War II, the England-born Irishman became almost a legend as an airborne Houdini! The Germans couldn't hold. Shot down and captured during a bombing raid over the French town of St. Omer in 1940, he contrived one of the most horrendous escapes outside fiction.

For nine weeks and five days, he cycled, hiked, swam, and crawled 700 miles to freedom. Twice he was recaptured. The second time he strangled three German captors with his bare hands to escape again.

Once he had to burrow into the naure pile of a French farm and remain in his repulsive hideout until nightfall. He masqueraded variously as an American, Belgian and Canadian, in his flight across Europe. When Hitler led his German legions through the Arch of Triumph in defeated Paris, Embry—disguised as a French artisan—stood in the crowd and watched.

Incensed by Embry's will-o-the-wisp tactics, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goerring, leader of the German Luftwaffe, personally levied a reward of 70,000 Reichsmarks (about $14,000) on his head, dead or alive.

On a recent inspection tour in West Germany, Embry cracked to German newsmen: "I say, do you chaps still have that reward on me?" Recalling their reaction, he later remarked wryly: "Those bouncers didn't have much sense of humor."

After his escape, the RAF fittingly put him to work planning a low-level air raids on Gestapo headquarters sites. One of these was "Operation Jericho," in which Embry's Mosquito bombers skimmed 60 feet above a penitentiary grounds to crumple walls and demolish the guard house without injuring the 700 prisoners, most when I was alone and hungry and pretty well all in. That was that whatever happened, I would never look back, but always think forward with hope."

That's the man under whose thousands of Americans observe AIRCENT's third anniversary.

So They Say

I can't quote the President but he was not displeased. I think he liked it (Nixon's answer to Adlai Stevenson).—Vice President Nixon.

I believe that great disasters come about largely through miscalculation. Aggressors assume that they can, with little risk, make great gains.—Secretary of State Dulles.

I have disagreed with the Eisenhower administration and I will disagree again. It is a Truman-Stevenson theory that you must place party above country.—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

I believe you Agriculture Secretary Benson are absolutely honest and sincere in your views. But the unfortunate thing is, I disagree with you completely.—Rep. Thomas Abernethy (D, Miss.).

So far as I know, no American professor has been indicted, tried and found guilty under "due process" of treason or espionage.—J. L. Morrill, Univ. of Minn. president on Communists in Education.

Keep one thing in mind. When a news correspondent knocks on your door and asks you for propaganda, push him out on his head.—G. I. Otho Bell, who deserted to Reds, writes to his mother.

The Chinese Communist regime has been invited (to Geneva) only to discuss Korea and Indo-China, where it is in fact a force of aggression which we cannot ignore.—Secretary of State Dulles.

If the Army asks me to pay for it ($1200 doghouse), I will gladly do so.—Maj.-Gen Roderick Allen.

THE BIG PROJECT—The full impact of the Straits Bridge construction project on the economy of this region will not be realized for another couple years.

And when the bridge is completed in late 1959 according to schedule there will be celebrations and new impetus to the business and industrial life of the Upper Peninsula. This is said optimistically, of course, and there is always the possibility that realization will not be as pleasant as the dream.

Sharing in the optimism is a personable young man we met in Escanaba the other day. Although he is not of the Upper Peninsula he firmly believes in the benefit the bridge will bring this region.

He is George C. Zeller of Duluth, representative in public relations for United States Steel Corporation in the Lake Superior district. And should you wonder why U. S. Steel is interested in the Straits Bridge project, please be advised that all of the structure's suspension spans will be made of steel.

MEN AND STEEL—Zeller flew from Escanaba to Detroit, there to meet with members of the Michigan Bridge Authority and others whose responsibility it is to see that the bridge is built.

Zeller's interest is in telling the Straits Bridge story to the satisfaction of its backers and the benefit of the people of Michigan. Incidentally the better publicized the bridge is nationally, the greater the number of persons who will come to Northern Michigan.

U. S. Steel will furnish the steel, fabricate it for the spans, and erect it, Zeller said. How many tons of steel? How many kinds of steel? He doesn't yet know—but he is going to find out, and that will become a part of the story.

Of interest to people of this region is Zeller's statement that all of the steel to be used in the bridge will be melted from ore mined in the Lake Superior iron district.

When the bridge is completed, metal dug from the North Country will span the Straits water barrier to bring the people of the Great Lakes region closer together in spirit and in actuality.

FIRST AND SECOND—The bridge across the Straits will be the longest and second-longest in the world.

It will be the first in over-air length—a distance of 26,444 feet—slightly more than five miles.

Yet its longest central suspension span of 3,800 feet will be second to the present longest span in the world, Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco with a free-hanging span of 4,200 feet.

Most of the total length will be made up of truss spans and causeways to carry the four-lane roadway across shallower water on each side of the central suspension span. The central span is over a deep gorge in the Straits, where the bottom falls away to a depth of 250 feet.

TIME AND PLACE—Men have dreamed of bridging the Straits of Mackinac for more than 70 years. Within the past 30 years these dreams several times appeared near realization.

Now there is the awakening to a reality many people find difficult to comprehend. Construction of the Straits Bridge is now under way. The bridge is scheduled to be opened to traffic in the fall of 1959 and completed by 1960.

But the project is no longer in doubt. It will be built. Nearly $100,000,000 will be spent in its construction.

There was debate for many years over the project. Should it be a bridge or a tunnel? The question plagued engineers. Then D. B. Steinman, dean of the world's bridge engineers, was caught up in the enthusiasm and developed studies and plans for spanning the Straits. Proponents of a tunnel, always in the minority, withdrew.

The people of Michigan have never been satisfied with the ferry service at the Straits because times change and yesterday's service is inadequate for today's traffic volume. Only satisfactory answer to the problem of transportation delays is the construction of a bridge.

Now the bridge has begun. People are hopeful, they are optimistic, they look to a brighter economic future for the Upper Peninsula.

Nothing Developed Excels Mother's Milk for Infants

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Beyond any doubt, the best food for a new-born infant is the mother's milk, when such feeding is possible.

This does not mean, however, that infants cannot grow well and stay healthy if they are bottle fed. Artificial feeding has been carried out successfully many, many times.

It does mean, however, that if one compared a large group of breast-fed infants with a large group of artificially-fed infants, the breast-fed group would gain more and be more healthy on the average than the artificially-fed group.

THE FOOD NEEDS of infants are important both from the standpoint of quality and quantity. Good, modern infant care includes frequent weighing during the first few months. Any failure to gain weight because of insufficient intake would thus be quickly discovered.

Quality, in reference to this subject, means what kinds of food are given. The starch, fat, protein, and mineral needs are excellently supplied in mother's milk. Even these, however, are frequently supplemented by giving an infant some orange juice and cod-liver oil which supply important vitamins.

COW'S MILK, which forms the basis of most artificial feeding formulas, is somewhat different from human milk. It contains a larger amount of protein, a smaller amount of sugar, and there are some less important differences.

When artificial feedings are necessary, however, cow's milk, to which is added sugar in some form serves as the basis of the formula. Protein in the form of strained meats has been reported to be valuable for infants in preventing anemia.

Milk continues to make up a large part of the food during the first year but pureed vegetables, mashed bananas, egg yolk and perhaps other foods are as a rule gradually added to the diet during this period. At no other time after birth is growth so rapid as during the first year. Consequently, at no other time is it so important to maintain a satisfactory diet at all times.

THE GREATEST GAIN in weight is during the first six months.

During the second half of the first year, the weight gain slows down and weaning or removal from bottle feeding is begun.

If a grownup who weighed 150 pounds gained weight as fast as a new-born infant, he would weigh 300 pounds in six months and 450 pounds in a year. The need for food during the first year of life is thus obvious.

Saarlander Has One Of The Toughest Jobs In West Europe

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
SAARBRÜCKEN—(NEA)—As Ernie Morgen, an ordinary "citizen" of the Saar, put it: "Next to being a citizen of Trieste the toughest job in West Europe is to be a Saarlander."

Ernie, short, broad-shouldered and dark-haired, is a typical Saar coal miner—the son and grandson of miners. He is himself a symbol of the tiny state's split personality.

In the 40 years of his troubled existence Ernie Morgen's allegiance has been claimed in turn by Germany, France—then again by Germany and again by France.

The tragic dispute still rages, and is likely to continue much longer, for France has made settlement of the Saar issue one of the conditions for ratification of the European Defense Community.

"I no longer know what I am or where my soul belongs," Ernie said.

"And what would you like to be?" I asked.

"Probably an American."

There was more than mere European courtesy in his reply. The Saar was liberated in the spring of 1945 by General Patton's tanks and—with the exception perhaps of adjoining little Luxembourg—is the only corner in post-war Europe that retains a genuinely warm feeling for Americans.

We were walking along the Bahnhofstrasse, main street of Saarbrücken, capital of the Saar. After Metz, the gloomy capital of French Lorraine which I left only 45 minutes earlier, Saarbrücken seemed like a fairyland.

Bahnhofstrasse glistened and twinkled with myriads of multi-colored neon lights. A huge sign ablaze with red, orange and radiant white announced unashamedly: "Trinkt Coco-Cola." Another advertised "All About Eve — a great American film."

"The Saar is a civilized country," Ernie said, pointing with pride to the neon lights. Neon came rather late to the Europeans and they still regard it as a mark of "civilization."

Even in the cold, wet drizzle Saarbrücken seemed prosperous. Stores and markets were piled high with French, German and American goods. Cafes and bistrottes were crowded with miners who came to town for their usual Saturday night's spree.

Though attired in their Sunday best they looked unmistakably like coal diggers. Except for their language it would have been difficult to tell them apart from the men who toil in mines of West Virginia or Illinois.

But while the end of the last war brought a measure of prosperity to the Saarlanders, they still have no peace.

The Saar is only a speck on Europe's geographic map. It covers

SAAR CITIZEN reads his paper across street from steel mill which, with coal, makes tiny Saarland big on Europe's map.

900 square miles—half the size of Long Island—with a population of less than a million. Why should this tiny oval patch of land bordering on France and Germany rate as one of the major trouble spots this side the Iron Curtain?

"Because," Ernie Morgen said, "the Saar, like the Ruhr, is the heart pumping life blood — coal and steel — to war-ravaged Europe."

Under the green hills of the Saar lies an immense bed that produces 18,000,000 tons of coal a year. Superimposed on it is an industry that produces almost 3,000,000 tons of steel a year.

The French say: "With West Germany in possession of the Ruhr, France needs the coal and steel of the Saar to survive. Before agreeing to a European Army with German participation let us first settle the Saar issue."

To which the Germans reply, with some justification: "The Saar is German. But we are ready to compromise. Let France guarantee ratification of the European Army treaty and we shall consent to the 'Europeanization' of the Saar."

This, in effect, would make the tiny disputed area a sort of international "District of Columbia" — the symbol and soul of a future united Europe.

So the agreement about the Saar goes on without an end—much to the delight of the Russians and their fifth columns in the West.

In 1935, the Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly in a plebiscite to relinquish the international status granted them after the First World War and return to Germany. If asked today, they are not likely to repeat the mistake.

As Ernie Morgen said, "If the Saar cannot be an American District of Columbia let them at least make it an all-European District of Columbia."

You Have To Love 'Em, Elephant Trainer Says

OKLAHOMA CITY — Lanky George Lewis loves elephants although they have almost been the death of him.

Since 1927, Lewis has been an elephant handler for circuses and zoos and he wouldn't trade his job for any in the world.

He has had several close calls with death. In 1937, when he was elephant handler at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, Ziegfeld, the zoo's meanest elephant once owned by Showman Flo Ziegfeld, went on a rampage. Lewis doesn't know how he lived to tell about it.

Ziegfeld was pretty mean when the showman sold him to the Zoo but he became meaner when the zoo set him up in housekeeping with a mate.

"They all go bad during that stage," Lewis says. "Some tame down later on and some don't. 'Anyway, Ziegfeld curled back his trunk and caught me right in the middle. The blow knocked me 50 feet and before I could get up he was right on top of me."

"He tried to gore me. I must have moved just right because, as I turned over on my side, the tusks went past me and buried in the ground. Finally, he raised up and I caught hold of one of his ears and rode right up with him. I started to gouge my hand into his eye, but noticed he stood there like he was stunned. I guess he couldn't figure out why he hadn't killed me."

Lewis says even before his nerves settled down he went back into the yard and led the big animal around without any trouble. Ziegfeld is still alive and considered the biggest in the United States.

Most elephants are easy to train, Lewis believes, but there's got to be a "certain feeling between you and the animal. You've got to love them and they'll love you."

Lewis says that many of the common beliefs about elephants' habits are nonsense. The theory that elephants are afraid of mice is just supposition. Lewis explained that any small animal that moves quickly will excite an elephant. A cat or a dog might cause them to stampede.

And what about memory?

Lewis says if an elephant gets to know a person pretty well he'll remember him for life. How-

And does tobacco make an elephant sick?

Lewis says on the contrary most elephants like tobacco. He said the myth that tobacco makes them sick got started in the 1800s. A circus elephant ran wild and killed a spectator. When the police arrived, a trainer, trying to save the circus expense of a possible lawsuit, told police

Largest Jack Pine Found In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The loggers who cut their way across Wisconsin in the early years of the century missed a few big trees.

The American Forestry Assn., has recognized a tree near the famed Dells of the Wisconsin River—an old log drive thoroughfare—as the largest jack pine in the world. It's 70 feet tall and 68.8 inches in circumference.

Wisconsin also has the largest white pine and the largest Norway (red) pine in the world.

Airlift Detours To Avoid India

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — A U. S. Air Force spokesman said today the American airlift of French troops to Indochina is "detouring around India." Prime Minister Nehru announced earlier today the troop ferry would not be permitted to cross his country, a key link on the normal air route to the Far East.

The spokesman at the Air Force's European headquarters here refused to divulge the route being followed by the giant C124 Globemasters. Nor would he say whether they were landing in Ceylon, the British Commonwealth dominion off India's southern tip.

"But they aren't flying over India," the spokesman declared.

The Air Force spokesman also refused again to announce the number of planes and troops involved in the ferrying operation but previous advices from Paris said possibly 10 planes were being used to move about 1,000 men.

Demonstration Of 4-H Club Projects Here Saturday

Members of Delta County 4-H Clubs, who plan to attend and participate in the State 4-H Club Show at Michigan State College in East Lansing next August, are being asked to attend a workshop demonstration at the court house in Escanaba at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Four 4-H members who were successful last year will be present at the workshop to present demonstrations similar to those that won for them. They are Marlene and Dianne Dahlvick, who will demonstrate the freezing of fruit and Jean Ford and Nancy Way, who will show how to select eggs according to quality. A new book that will help with ideas will also be available at that time.

Fred C. Bernhardt, county 4-H club agent, who made arrangements for the meeting, urges the 4-H members to bring their leaders and friends and help get Delta county's participation in the state show off to a good start. Last year 17 Delta county 4-H club members made the trip to East Lansing and several of them won trips for giving good demonstrations.

Straits Cities Plan Mackinac Bridge Ceremonies May 7-8

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Changing political fortunes will not affect the co-chairmanship of the Mackinac Straits Bridge ground breaking ceremonies.

Al Phillips was mayor of St. Ignace and Charles Lahaie was a Cheboygan councilman when they were appointed co-chairmen of the celebration.

But since that time, Phillips sought reelection and lost while Lahaie sought the mayor's post in Cheboygan and won.

Both still will act as co-chairmen when the two-day bridge celebration is held May 7 and 8 at St. Ignace and Mackinac City, respectively.

ELK FINDS PERCH

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Motorists were startled the other day by an elk roosting in a tree near Clasen High School.

Well, it wasn't a live elk, just the head of one. The Elks lodge concluded that student pranksters were only kidding.

In The Spring A Young Girl's Fancy Turns To - Superstition

Down in Dexter, Mo., on the edge of the Ozarks, it's no trouble at all for teen-agers to learn their fate—boy-friend wise. They just resort to the same signs, omen, portents and homespun magicking that their Ozark forebears did. Through the years the tricks were brought down by parents from old grannies in the hills. Today's teen-agers will tell you that they really work, especially when practiced in secret, as many of the youngsters do.

PAT DUGGINS . . . seeds of superstition.

DIANA BROWN . . . it's a love match.

PAT AGAIN . . . by a hair's breath.

LINDA DOU HUGHES . . . marriage is a blind stab.

Pat Duggins puts three apple seeds on her forehead, naming each after a different boy friend. Seed that sticks to her head longest indicates which is the right boy for her to date. Diana Brown chooses her boy friends with the guidance of a lighted match. Holding it by the bottom, she lets it burn out. The burned head will fall toward the home of the boy who's best for her. Pat Duggins performs a bedtime rite to find out if her current boy friend is the one she should marry. She places three black hairs on a piece of paper and folds it up. She then places the paper under her pillow and sleeps on it. If the hairs form an "N" in the morning, it means "No." If they form a "Y," it means "Yes, he's the one!" Linda Lou Hughes' boy friend has already proposed and she wants to know whether she'll really marry him and if he'll be a good husband and generous provider. So she takes three bowls and in one puts some food, in another some dirt and leaves and lets the third remain empty. Blindfolded, she is turned around three times, after which she points blindly to a bowl. The bowl she points at foretells her future. Empty bowl, she won't ever marry; dirty bowl, she'll have lots of children but not much of a home; the bowl with the food promises a happy and plentiful life.

Around 700 Jam Hearing Room For McCarthy Inquiry

more than 200 were destined to stand.

There were just a few more than 100 seats available for the public. The other seats were reserved for subcommittee members, witnesses and principals in the drama, news-men, and wives and special guests of Congress members and of officials.

Beckley said there were seats reserved for 120 reporters at press tables and room for 91 persons involved in radio, television and news picture coverage.

A dozen uniformed Capitol policemen were assigned to stations about the hearing room and at the wide double doors to preserve order. Plainclothesmen were spotted about the area.

There were 25 microphones on tables and in strategic spots.

Fifteen cameramen, sound engineers and electricians manned the three live television cameras picking up the proceedings.

Thirty men were assigned to work 15 film cameras. Space was provided for 30 still photographers for press associations and newspapers.

Sixteen persons, including announcers and engineers, were ready to handle the portions of the proceedings to be broadcast.

And, at some of the tables, several stenographers were assigned space to take down the testimony.

Farmer Shoots 6 Out Of 300 Deer

MANISTEE (AP) — Farmer Frank Tomaszewski, who estimates his crop losses to deer at $1,000 a year, today began shooting a herd estimated at 300. He said he had been given permission to act by the Conservation Department.

He said he had shot six so far and a crew from Houghton Lake Experimental Station was picking up the carcasses.

Tomaszewski aired his plight earlier this month to members of the Manistee County board of supervisors. The board referred him to conservation officers.

He told supervisors he had tried setting dogs on the deer herd but that "the deer and the dogs are now friends." He said the deer jumped over his electric fences.

Tomaszewski raises grain and truck crops on his Stronach township farm nine miles east of Manistee. He said his troubles with the deer had been mounting for 10 years.

Stephenson PTA Elects Officers

STEPHENSON — The Stephenson PTA, meeting Tuesday evening at the high school, elected the following officers for the coming school year: president, Frank Bayee; vice president, Mrs. Elton Westman; secretary, Ronald Pavlik; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde Anderson.

Mrs. Carl Swanson was elected chairman for the senior tea which will be held in May.

Dr. Joel Clay of Menominee was the speaker of the evening. His topic was "Curability of Cancer." Information on methods of early detection of cancer was given.

Following his talk a colored picture entitled "The Warning Shadow" was shown. This film described the first case of lung cancer cured by total removal of the involved lung 21 years ago.

A film, "Stephenson Yesterday," showing the people in the village and general views of the business district in 1939 also was presented.

Lunch was served by the members from Palestine.

600 Million Apart

MANILA (AP) — Japan and The Philippines were 600 million dollars away from agreement on reparations today and it appeared certain the latest negotiations would be broken off. Both sides held fast to their respective stands — the Japanese for a maximum payment of 400 million dollars in goods and services and the Philippines for an "irreducible minimum" of one billion dollars.

River-Wading MP Also Likes To Walk In Sewers Of London

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—Lord Noel-Buxton pushed up the cover of the manhole and emerged from the sewer looking dazed but happy.

He had just walked through three miles of sewers in the heart of London. Overhead the London traffic rumbled; red, double-deck buses wheeled around Piccadilly Circus; offices emptied for the lunch hour.

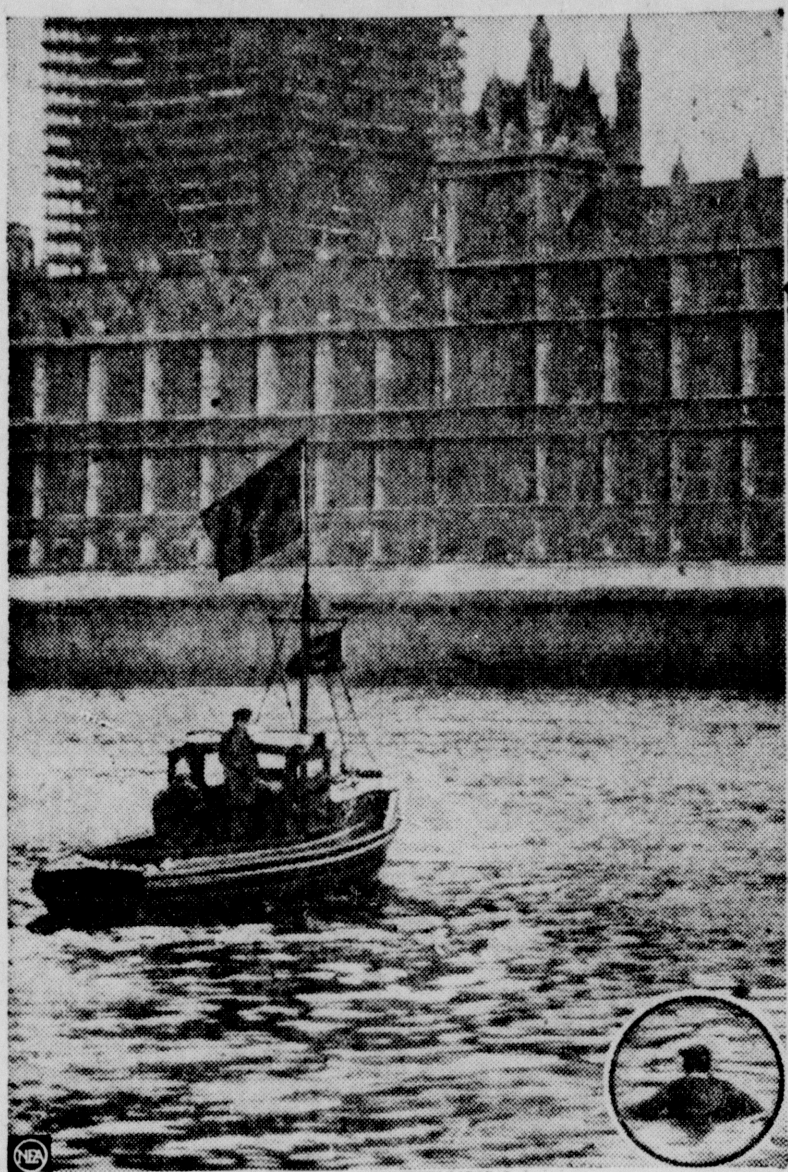

But Lord Noel-Buxton, 37-year-old Labor peer, was oblivious to it all. He was slogging his way through dark, echoing vaults in search of an underground brook known as the Tyburn.

For his lordship, or "Rufus," as his friends call him, is the "new look" among politicians: an aristocrat turned Socialist, a poet whose hobby is sewers.

And rivers. His lordship is never happier than when he is wading, fully-clothed, in the middle of some river. He does these things because he is interested in ancient English history, and because his family motto is, "Do it with Thy Might."

Lord Rufus first tested history with his might when he attempted to prove how the Romans had forded the Thames 2000 years ago near what is now Westminster bridge. The attempt was a failure. He had to swim for his life.

Next he tried the Humber river. The Romans had to get across the Humber on their travels from London to York, and Lord Rufus thought he knew the exact spot where they had crossed. This time the six-foot-three Lord wore a life jacket. It took him 70 minutes to wade the mile and a half of river expanse.

WADING THE THAMES at low tide was a flop for Lord Noel-Buxton (circled) who had to swim most of the way across.

Four hours later the water stood 22 feet deep where his lordship had crossed.

Recently, Lord Rufus has taken to exploring the sewers of London in search of underground brooks. He likes sewermen. "They respect the identity between the past and the present," he claims.

Lord Rufus frequently eats his lunch among the weed-choked bomb ruins north of St. Paul's cathedral. If he had his way, the bombed sections of London would never be rebuilt.

"Long live the weeds and the wilderness yet," he cries.

Ceylon Fetes Queen

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II received messages and gifts from all over the world and a lusty song of good wishes from 50,000 Ceylonese Wednesday in honor of her 28th birthday. The Queen's anniversary fell on the last day of her visit to this tropical island dominion.

THEY WENT THATAWAY

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP)—Harking back to the wild and woolly West, roundup clubs are forming as a posse to aid officers in east central Oklahoma.

Sheriff John Sowers, welcoming the reinforcements, said he would have 100 horsemen immediately at his disposal for searchers in this heavily wooded area.

Bedding Needs Special Spring Cleaning Job

By VIVIAN BROWN
Newsfeatures Writer

SPRING CLEANING includes bedding too. Years ago the homemaker wasn't averse to joining her neighbors in a mass morning sunning and airing of bedding over the window sill, porch railing or backyard clothesline. This is a practice that has been made almost obsolete by the rapid growth of cities and towns.

During the spring, bedding may be aired discreetly at open windows, hung over a line of chairs. A good thorough cleaning may be given to mattress, spring, cover, pad and pillows every few months, but with special zip in the Spring.

Here are some suggestions formulated by cleanliness experts to help in a more effective cleaning job for bedding:

Mattress—Every mattress should have a thorough vacuuming once a week. Turn them frequently to avoid developing uncomfortable hollows and to preserve a firm contour. At regular intervals during the year—as well as Spring—your mattress needs an all-over scrubbing. Work on small areas at a time, using soap jelly whipped into a lather and as little moisture as possible. One side of the mattress should dry before the other side is tackled. If possible this job should be done in the sunshine. A good day is essential to speed the drying process and leave the mattress fragrant. An electric fan may be used in an emergency.

Foam rubber mattresses must be washed quickly, without too much moisture. This is a long-drying material.

Pads and covers—slide fastened covers of pre-shrunk muslin are washed easily by hand or machine, need no ironing. Plastics may be sponged clean with warm suds right on the bed, wiped with a rinse cloth, then wiped completely dry. Pads should be washed, rinsed and placed lengthwise over a parallel clothes line to dry. Quilted pads should not be ironed as air space in the stuffing is necessary to keep pads puffy and absorbent. Reverse pads during drying, shaking them vigorously to encourage fluffiness.

Pillows—Feather, foam rubber, or dacron pillows may be washed easily. Just squeeze the pillow gently in warm soap suds. Two

Homes Of 8 Million 'Unfit For Humans'

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON—Housing still constitutes a top national problem. Here are some of the statements from the federal government's Housing and Home Finance Agency, and from the National Association of Home Builders, a private organization:

Eight million families still live in houses "unfit for human habitation" (NAHB). Out of more than 40 million nonfarm homes, 20 per cent are classed as sub-standard because of structural condition or lack of basic sanitary facilities. (HIFA).

Additionally, four million other families live in houses that have deteriorated to near-slum condition and do not meet health and safety standards. (NAHB).

A minimum of one million new homes a year is needed to provide housing for new families and replacements made necessary by destruction and other factors. In addition, the present record birth rate indicates that new family formation will reach one and a half million yearly in the early '60's and about two million each year in the early '70's (housing groups generally agree).

NAHB says this boils down to a need for two million new or new-conditioned houses each year for the next 10 years.

A recent count shows that more than 400,000 trees grow on the boulevards and avenues and in the parks of Paris, France.

New Michigan Laws Given OK

LANSING (AP)—Counties received authority to build homes for the aged and levy taxes to build them under a bill signed into law by Gov. Williams Tuesday.

The measure, defeated last year in the House, permits the counties to levy up to a tenth of a mill for the purpose.

At the same time, the governor signed a measure permitting dump trucks of up to five cubic yards capacity to carry sand and gravel within 50 miles of their loading point and trucks used for moving forest products up to 100 miles without permit by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Another bill signed will increase the state employees' retirement pension from a maximum of $1,800 to $2,200 a year.

A fourth measure approved by the governor will permit earned surplus of a dissolved corporation to be carried into the earned surplus of a surviving corporation which owned all the stock of the dissolved.

Other bills signed will: Give unemployed Great Lakes seamen the same unemployment compensation rights as other jobless workers.

Increase the maximum annual pension for municipal employees from $1,800 to $2,000 a year.

Legalize blood tests as evidence in cases of disputed paternity.

Allow the Mackinac Island State Park Commission to deed a parcel of land to the Conservation Department.

Windshield Pits No Mystery, Says Plate Glass Firm

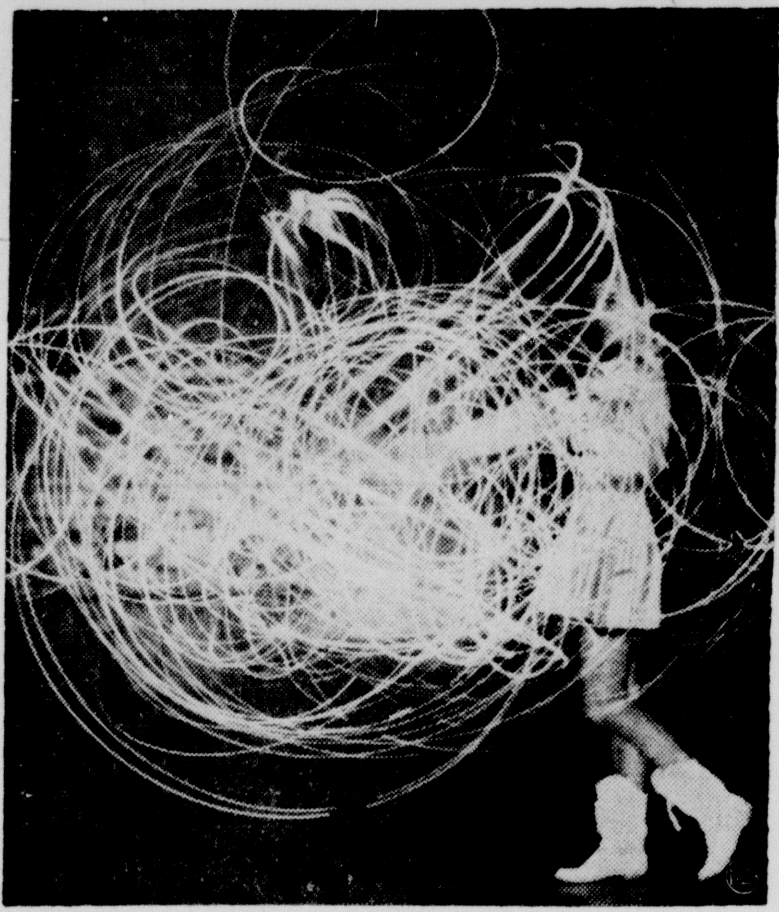

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A national glass company has offered a tangible explanation for mysterious windshield pockmarks plaguing Michigan motorists from Detroit to Cheboygan.

A team of experts from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. attributes the pockmarks to the general deterioration of older cars and driving conditions.

After the examination of 150 autos marked in the mysterious epidemic sweeping the country, the glass company announced:

"Flying sand, cinders, gravel, or the materials used to de-ice snow covered roads could and very probably did cause the pit or crush marks found in the cars examined at Mt. Pleasant."

Investigators said 25 new cars, parked in a totally exposed lot at Mt. Pleasant for many weeks, showed no pockmarks. Older cars parked in protected garages during the period of the Mt. Pleasant mystery were found to show the normal road wear on windshields and front door vents.

In Grand Rapids, plate glass windows were added to the mystery Tuesday.

Gordon Vander Wheel, assistant sales manager of the White Products Division of C. L. Bryant Corp., said pockmarks appeared in windows of the company plant in Middleville.

He said he heard a snapping sound Tuesday and then saw the pockmarks appear.

Theories on the cause of the blemishes range from road conditions to recent H-bomb tests.

Used car dealers on Detroit's famed Livernois Ave., reported numerous pockmarked vehicles yesterday. Dealers said the pockmarks also hit car finishes. One said the pockmarks started out as pin-sized pits but grew to a dime sized hole in a matter of hours.

Nation's Timber Assets Guarded

By SAM DAWSON
PORTLAND, Ore. (P)—The nation's home-building splurge is ripping into its timber resources. And some are asking today: Are man, insects and fire slowly but surely destroying our forests?

The helicopter, some byproducts of the atom bomb, the latest in insect-killers—even rat poison—are being used today by lumbermen to fight this threat.

Federal and state laws act as watchdogs to see that the vast timberlands still left aren't squandered to meet the nation's big postwar demand for construction materials. More than two-thirds of the timberlands are government-owned.

Commercial lumbermen in the Pacific Northwest—conscious of the public's memory of the old "stripping" days when timberlands were denuded for quick profits in lumber—insist that new forestry methods, forest farming and other types of conservation, assure the nation of a fairly constant supply of new timber.

There are enough trees standing in the 12-state western pine region—from the eastern slopes of the Cascade Mountains to the western borders of Texas and the Dakotas—to build 50 million five-room houses, according to S. V. Fullaway Jr., manager of the Western Pine Assn. here.

He adds that since 1933 the lumber companies and government agencies have developed a code of forest practices to insure the region's lasting future as a timber source.

In the pine regions the rules now call for the cutting only of ripe trees, leaving the young ones. They grow fast when the old ones are out of their way, and the area reseeded itself.

A Delicious Butter-Crisp Chicken Dinner!

Cut drawn chicken into serving pieces. Rinse in cold water, drain well. Put 1 cup flour, 1 tea. salt, 1/4 tea. pepper, and 2 tea. paprika in a paper bag. Shake 3 or 4 pieces of chicken in the bag at a time to coat thoroughly. Heat enough butter and shortening in a heavy skillet to make a layer 1/4 inch deep. Place chicken in hot shortening. Brown on both sides. Place chicken, one layer deep, in a shallow baking pan. Brush chicken generously with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) until tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Baste with melted butter after 15 minutes of baking. If chicken cannot be served at once, reduce oven heat. Brush chicken with more melted butter.

Directors Will Dissolve D&C

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co. may be purposely steered toward dissolution by a new group of directors who seized the company helm from Detroit financier George J. Kolowich.

Alfons Landa, Washington attorney and member of a group which won control of the company Tuesday, said he had informed stockholders of the intent to dissolve D. & C. and return its estimated $7,000,000 in assets to them.

"The company no longer serves any useful purpose," Landa said. "It is no longer a navigation company—just a holding company."

A final decision on dissolving the company, however, would be up to stockholders themselves.

Landa is a member of a group headed by Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Co., which defeated Kolowich in the annual election of the D. & C. board of directors.

Ouster of Kolowich from control of the company, onetime operators of Great Lakes excursion vessels, ended a months-long bitter proxy fight.

Besides losing control of D. & C., Kolowich lost the voting strength of D. & C. owned Fruehauf stock. The pro-Fruehauf majority of the D. & C. board will vote it now.

Rest Now And Then For Youthful Vigor

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Ethel Barrymore, replying to a query about her seemingly inexhaustible supply of energy, has said that once a month she takes to her bed for 24 hours. During that interval she just revels in inactivity.

Miss Barrymore's plan may not appeal to you, but, if you are a busy careerist or housewife, you should have some plan for fortifying energy. Whether you think you need one day a month in bed or an evening a week lounging around the house, be faithful to your program.

Your revitalizing program might begin with a few limbering exercises — the stretch and pull kind that make the muscles feel good, rather than sore.

Next, draw a warm, soothing bath. If you don't already have one, you'll find a rubber head cushion a perfect accessory. After an hour's lolling in the tub, pat on a fragile fragrance as a further inducement to a serene mood.

In the opinion of one perfume house, its body sachet, a powdered perfume, is designed for this type of extravagance. It can be sprinkled liberally over the body without disturbing any budget.

And the scent, the firm claims, is also the perfect complement to a relaxing bath. Wild roses, honeysuckle, jasmin and heliotrope are prominent in this fragrant bouquet of the perfumer's art.

Before the mood leaves you, get into bed and enjoy the fact of being there while the rest of the household is still a beehive. If you find it fun, give yourself

Empty Stomachs Behind Iron Curtain: Russia's Weakness

By LEON DENNEN
PARIS—(NEA)—Western leaders should take another hard look at the Red world before sitting down at Geneva to haggle with Moscow and Peiping over Korea and Indo-China.
The Reds as usual are expected to talk and act tough. But they will again lead from weakness rather than from strength, for the Soviet empire is in the midst of a grave economic and political crisis.
"The agricultural situation is serious enough in Russia," two Allied diplomats who just returned from behind the Iron Curtain told NEA Service. "But it borders almost on disaster in the satellite countries."
This is also confirmed by refugees who recently escaped West from Poland, Hungary and East Germany.
Moscow's much publicized plan to increase food and consumer goods production in Russia and the satellite states is running into serious obstacles. There is a drastic bread shortage in Hungary and a potato famine in Poland and East Germany.
Soviet-dominated lands like Poland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria which once exported food are now hungry themselves. Everywhere the reason is the same: communism has failed to modify the stubborn individualism of the peasant.
It took the Red leaders more than 35 years to discover that nature, especially human nature, is not easily changed. Thus, since the death of Stalin, his successors have literally been jumping out of their skin to woo the peasant. To no avail.
Stalin originally forced through the collectivization of Russian agriculture at the cost of national famine and four million dead peasants. But years of compulsion, coercion, concentration camps and execution by firing squads have completely failed to bend the Russian peasant to the Kremlin's will.
Of some 100 million Russian peasants, no more than one million joined the Communist Party since the Bolsheviks seized power. This was recently revealed by none other than Nikita S. Khrushchev, No. 3 man in the Kremlin's new hierarchy.
The situation in Poland, Moscow's most important satellite, is even more revealing.

HIDING HER FACE to avoid Red reprisal, this East German woman rests beside food parcels she got in West Berlin. Refugees report food shortages plaguing satellite countries.

Nature puts her best into them!

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

In the nine years since the Reds came to power in Warsaw, only five to eight per cent of Polish peasants have enrolled in collective farms. Few peasants joined the Communist Party.
Of the close to 300,000 party members purged in the past six years for anti-Communist resistance—according to Poland's Red mouthpiece Zycie Warszawy—the majority were peasants and "counter-revolutionary intellectuals."
In the face of this stubborn and frequently heroic resistance, propaganda for land collectivization in Poland has almost ceased. This is also true of Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and especially East Germany, the Iron Curtain refugees reported.

More than 35 years after the Russian Revolution the peasants for the most part remain the backbone of resistance to the Red regimes.

Thus, despite their immense industrial achievements, the Kremlin rulers now find the food shortage in Communist-dominated Europe is the major problem confronting them today.

Premier Georgi Malenkov must find new food sources to feed the hungry, stirring people behind the Iron Curtain if he is to remain in power. This urgency is primarily responsible for Moscow's drive to increase trade with the West and for the increased sale abroad of Russian gold.

Growing peasant resistance behind the Iron Curtain, in addition to its economic implications, is even more ominous for the Red rulers. The peasants still number half the population in Russia and the satellite countries. Their influence is felt in the towns not only because they feed the people but also because even today most workers in industry and Red Army soldiers have a rural background.

Tossed Skunk Into Plant; Fined $500

APPOMATTOX, Va. (P)—"Could the skunk have gone through the window of the plant unassisted?" asked Defense Attorney William B. Hopkins.

"Not unless he had a ladder," replied Vernon Bryan, manager of a strike-bound garment factory.

This exchange took place before the judge fined a striker $500 for tossing a skunk through the window.

Smokey Says:

Nature is yours, always, everywhere - fire can destroy it for you!

Peace Comes To Deceased Town

BELCHERVILLE, Tex. (P)—Belcherville doesn't have a mayor, doesn't have a school, doesn't have a telephone exchange, and now it doesn't have a postoffice. It was closed by federal edict.

But the 51 persons who live here are proud of the smallest incorporated city in the United States according to the last census. It isn't on the state highway map, but it's in Montague County in North Texas.

Each second Tuesday of every month there is a community supper. Everyone who has had a birthday the previous month is honored guest.

Belcherville had 2,300 inhabitants before the turn of the century. But one night people on one side of the town got mad and burned down the other side of the town, and that side retaliated the next night so that the whole town was destroyed by fire.

Centuries before the Christian era the swastika was used as a religious emblem in India and China.

Election Defect Brings Delay In City's Plans To Construct Light Plant

An apparent defect in the election last fall to amend Gladstone's charter has stalemated and seriously delayed this city's plans for construction of its own electric generating plant, it was disclosed at special meetings of the city commission Wednesday afternoon and evening called to determine what action should be taken.

The City of Gladstone was recently advised by A. C. Allyn and Co., Chicago, whose bid on the $2,100,000 issue of mortgage revenue bonds had been accepted the latter part of February, that they were unable to dispose of the bonds, released the city from its conditional contract and asked return of their certified check.

The Allyn Co. bid was conditioned upon obtaining a favorable opinion on the bonds from a firm of bond attorneys of their own choosing as well as an independent engineering report on the feasibility of the project.

Although the issue had been given unqualified approval by the firm of Faegre and Benson, bond attorneys of Minneapolis, and had been approved by the State Attorney General and the Michigan Securities Commission, Allyn and Co., were unable to obtain a favorable opinion from Chapman and Cutler, Chicago, their firm of bond attorneys.

This stemmed from the fact that the election was held 42 days after adoption of the resolution by the City Commission whereas Michigan law had been changed and 60 days was required. Previously the period had been 30 days and it was believed that the law was being complied with.

What can be done to correct the situation is the main concern at present. It may be a new election will have to be held which will set things back months; that legislation could be enacted validating proceedings thus far; that a new piece of legislation, Bill 1102, could be used, or a Supreme Court decision be obtained.

Limus Grone, Chicago, of the firm of Allyn and Co., was present at Wednesday's meetings and he made a new proposal that his firm would guarantee the sale of the bond issue at an interest rate of 3.95 per cent contingent upon legislation being passed to validate previous action taken on the bond issue and the obtaining of a favorable opinion from their firm of bond attorneys, Chapman and Cutler. The original interest rate offer was 3.69%.

City Attorney Clyde McGonagle recommended no action be taken on the new offer of Allyn and Co., until expert advice has been obtained from a competent Michigan firm of bond attorneys as to what is the best course to pursue.

Willis Jones of the firm of Allison-Williams, St. Paul, fiscal agents for the City of Gladstone, City Manager H. J. Henrikson and Atty McGonagle will go to Detroit some time next week to confer with Miller, Canfield, Patek and Stone, in connection with the matter.

Michigan's Attorney General has ruled the bond issue legal. In a letter to the City of Gladstone he stated: "I can see no reason why the governor would not approve it as the City could always hold another election. In my opinion the election was legal."

Rep. Einar Erlandson also conferred with Gladstone City officials Wednesday in an effort to help solve the problem. He said legislation to validate action taken to date was practically impossible because the legislature is ready to adjourn. He indicated the possibility of getting Governor G. Mennen Williams to intercede because of the emergency nature of the proposition.

In the meantime the City of Gladstone is holding Allyn and Co.'s certified check in the amount of $42,000 claiming breach of contract.

Trio Fined Upon Visit To Court

Pleading guilty to driving an auto while under the influence of intoxicants upon arraignment before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg yesterday afternoon, Duane Switzer was fined $75 and assessed court costs of 4.30.

Two companions, John Alworden and Jim LaCrosse, were arraigned on charge of being drunk and disorderly and each fined $15 and assessed court costs.

Arrests were made by Michigan State Police Tuesday evening.

Cancer Drive Slated Monday

A "lights-on" campaign to raise funds for the Schoolcraft County Cancer Society is scheduled in Manistique Monday, April 26, from 7 to 8 p. m., Carl L. Carlson, chairman, announced today.

Solicitors who will participate in the crusade to raise $1600 here for the cancer society's research, education and service program will meet at 3 p. m., Saturday in the Lincoln School for instructions, Carlson said, and literature will be distributed to them.

The fire siren here will be blown at 7 p. m., next Monday to kick off the drive.

The official slogan for the 1954 American Cancer Society crusade is "Strike back at cancer — man's cruellest enemy. Give!" National goal is set at $20 million.

Carlson pointed out that there are many ways of striking back at cancer. "The scientist strikes a blow in his research laboratory, the general practitioner by diagnosing cancer cases among his patients, the cancer specialist by treating cancer victims with surgery or radiation," he explained.

"But the fight against cancer is not limited to the medical profession. Working with the ACS in its cancer control program is an army of approximately one million volunteers," Carlson noted.

Half of these participate in year-around programs of public education and service to patients and the other half work in the annual nationwide ACS fund raising crusade.

"In striking back at cancer, you will be fighting a deadly foe that took a death toll of 227,000 in the United States last year," Carlson emphasized. Cancer, America's No. 2 killer, strikes one of every five Americans at sometime in their lives, he added.

County's 1955 Budget Exceeds '54 By $16,000

The tentative 1955 budget adopted Tuesday afternoon by the Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors contained three new items, increases of $4,159 and decreases of $500, a comparison with the 1954 budget reveals.

The tentative budget for next year is an "honest budget" based on cost figures for operation of the county departments during 1953. A. W. Heitman, chairman of the county board's finance committee stated in presenting the budget for approval.

The new items are $250 for civil defense director, $1800 for insurance and a deficit of $10,201.04.

$500 Decrease
All increases for the department were less than $300 except for the tuberculosis fund and buildings and grounds fund, which were increased $1,000 each; the circuit court fund, which was increased $750; and the appropriation for the county clerk and register of deeds, which was increased $750.

Decreases totaled $500 and were for elections and the abstract office. In 1953 the county operated on a budget of $113,239 and for 1954 the budget totals $110,699.55. During 1953, the county incurred a deficit of over $10,000.

The tentative 1955 budget, which will be presented to the county allocation board next month, is as follows:

The Budget
Schoolcraft County Board of Social Welfare Fund — $	30,000.00
Tuberculosis Fund	10,000.00
Veterans' Counselor	1,650.00
Soldiers' & Sailors' Relief Fund	1,230.00

Library Receives Book Memorial

A memorial to the late Mrs. Dale Ott, mother of six children, the book, "Empire Of Fur" by August Derleth, has been presented to the Manistique Public Library by the J. Joseph Herberts.

The story interest is lively in this work, which is historically correct and considered outstanding reading for all boys and girls. It is one of the "American Heritage Series" depicting dramatic events in America's past with a truth that only living fiction can give.

The publication has been inscribed and is now in circulation.

VFW State Commander Will Speak At Encampment Here

Joseph Ritzheim, of Saginaw, department commander for the Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting Sunday in Manistique High School gymnasium for delegates and officials attending the 14th district VFW spring encampment here this weekend.

The encampment will be attended by an estimated 500 persons from various Upper Michigan communities and will begin with registration at 2 p. m., Saturday, in the VFW clubrooms on Maple Ave. A dance Saturday evening is scheduled for VFW post and auxiliary members.

Following registration Sunday, schools of instruction will be conducted for the ladies auxiliary, at 9 a. m., in Gorsche hall, and for VFW officers at 10 a. m., in the clubrooms.

A noon banquet served by the Catholic Order of Foresters, at which the state commander will speak, will be followed by a post meeting at 2 p. m., in the clubrooms and an auxiliary meeting at the same hour in Gorsche hall.

Marvin Frederickson of Manistique will serve as master of ceremonies for the Sunday noon banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hentschell, 617 Oak St., have left to spend a few days visiting relatives at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mark, of Newberry, were recent guests of Mrs. Francis Stevens at the Wendland Home.

JUKEBOX PROVES USEFUL
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—An official burglar alarm gave police notice of a restaurant robbery. When thieves looted a juke box the machine began to play.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

STATE LAND SALE
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That pursuant to the provisions of Section 131 of Act 206, P. A. 1933, as amended, state lands in Delta County will be placed on the market by offering same for sale at public auction, Wednesday, May 19, 1954, at 10:00 A. M., E.S.T. (9:00 A. M., C.S.T.) in the county courthouse, Iron Mountain, Michigan.

Pursuant to statutes, deeds conveying lands so offered will reserve the following to the State of Michigan: all rights in minerals, coal, oil, gas, sand, gravel, marl, etc.; rights of ingress and egress over and across lands lying over watercourse or stream; all rights to aboriginal antiquities, mounds, earthworks, etc.

Pursuant to Section 6, Act 155, P. A. 1937, as amended, any person (former owner) who at the time of the tax sale had an interest in lands so sold, shall have the right for a period of thirty days after the public auction to meet the high bidder to receive a refund of the purchase price. Former owners, under the provisions of this sale, do not acquire mineral rights.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Further particulars and list of property to be offered are available at the County Treasurer's office at Escanaba, Michigan. Conservation District Headquarters, Escanaba, or Lands Division, Department of Conservation, Lansing.

SECRET AGREEMENTS
"Once again the American people have been shocked to learn of the secret agreement between Churchill and Roosevelt on the atomic bomb . . . there is further evidence that this Congress should approve the Bricker or George amendments and in the present session." — Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R Wis.), April 8 House speech.

THOSE OKLAHOMA HILLS
"The world's first 'hydrogen' blast . . . should have been the signal for an immediate program to disperse our population and our industry . . . there is no better and safer place for dispersed population and industry than Oklahoma." — Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D Okla.), April 8 news release.

Turley Only Two Outs From No-Hitter, But Loses To Indians 2-1

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Bullet Bob Turley may end up glad he didn't pitch that no-hitter. The Baltimore Oriole pitcher came within two outs of holding the Cleveland Indians hitless Wednesday night. He wound up getting beaten 2-1 when Al Rosen singled and Larry Doby, twice a strikeout victim, lined a high pitch 360 feet into the right field stands of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

"It was over his head," Turley said. "He never should have swung."

Turley, fresh out of the Army, wasn't around the last time a member of his team pitched a no-hitter. That was last May when the Orioles were still the St. Louis Browns. Bobo Holloman was the author.

Throws Like Feller

Bobo never pitched another complete game for the Browns and he was lost in the minors by the time Turley shed his khaki last August.

A blond Greek-god type who stands 6-2 and weighs 215, Turley throws harder than any pitcher who has hit the big time since Bobby Feller moved from his Iowa farm to the Indians. The Orioles have turned down cash offers of $150,000 for him.

In 60 innings last season he struck out 61 men, despite a 2-6 record. He has fanned 23 in 18 innings this season.

Bob Porterfield of the Washington Senators pitched a three-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics and his mates supported him with a 13-hit attack that produced a 13-1 victory.

New York whipped Boston 5-1 in the only other American League game. Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia 6-3, Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants 5-4. St. Louis beat Cincinnati 4-2, and Milwaukee thumped Chicago 7-3 in the National League.

College Athletics Needs New Sportsmanship Code

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—If college sports, especially football, are to maintain their proper place in the educational scheme, it's up to the coaches to educate themselves and the public to a new standard of sportsmanship.

That message was delivered Wednesday night to the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation—and incidentally to the coaches—by George Munger, president of the American Football Coaches Association.

Retired Last Year

Munger, who retired as University of Pennsylvania football coach after the 1953 season, chose "Ethics for Coaches" as his topic in a round table discussion.

The AFCA code of ethics, adopted in 1953, and the expanded "football code" which precedes the Mantle pounded Kiely's left-handed slants into the Yankee Stadium seats while the Sox were being mystified by Eddie Lopat.

The Phils threw their game away in Brooklyn in the first inning. Three throwing errors by the infield sandwiched between five walks and a single gave the Dodgers three runs.

Whitey Lockman had a bad night in Pittsburgh. The Giants' first baseman hit a home run in the fifth inning only to have it disallowed because a base runner Monte Irvin, had called time. Then in the eighth inning he muffed a pickoff throw from Don Liddle, and Toby Atwell scampered home from third base with the winning run.

Frank Thomas drove in three of the five Pirate runs with a two-on homer in the first inning.

Heavy Firing Due In U.P. Women's Bowling Tourney Over Weekend

MARQUETTE—Heavy bombardment of pins on the Shoreland alleys will be resumed Saturday and Sunday when 31 teams from 15 communities open the second half of the ninth annual Upper Peninsula Women's Bowling Association tournament.

They'll all be aiming to top the 2,497 posted two weeks ago by Mae's Style Shoppe of Bessemer. That's still tops in the team division. E. Van Effen and D. Peterson of Escanaba lead the doubles section with 1,119, while J. Neaveu of Niagara still is first in the singles with 566.

A Marquette kegler, Mary Nault, has taken over top spot in the "handicap section" of the all-events division with a total of 1,611. M. Gehring of Niagara still leads the all-events "no handicap" roster with 1,565.

Rich Las Vegas Tourney Opens

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The $35,000 Las Vegas Tournament of Champions gets underway today, with the favored Sam Snead and 18 other name professionals aiming at the $10,000 top prize.

The 72-hole event, inaugurated last year and won by a longshot, Al Besselin, is restricted to winners of a major open tournament in the past year.

Snead was installed a 7-2 betting favorite. This stems from his victory in the recent Masters in a playoff with Ben Hogan.

Besselin, of course, is back. Other entrants are Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, Doug Ford, Earl Stewart Jr., Ted Kroll, Bob Toski, Ed (Porky) Oliver, ex-amateur king Gene Littler, Ed Furgol, Dave Douglas, Fred Wampler, Art Wall Jr., Shelley Mayfield, Walter Burkemo and Chandler Harper, who was runner-up by one stroke for the big money last year.

There were two other eligibles for the event, Ben Hogan and Lew Worsham. Hogan does not list this one on his curtailed tournament schedule.

PGA officials said Worsham was asked by his home club directors at Oakmont, Pa., to skip the event because of his many other road commitments.

College Athletics Needs New Sportsmanship Code

official rules, are steps in the right direction, Munger said.

The code of ethics was a lively topic during the AFCA meeting last January when coaches and fans still were debating the propriety of Notre Dame's "fainting Irish" ruse to stop the clock during a game.

Coach Sets Tone

At that time, the coaches agreed it was impossible to make the rules so they couldn't be beaten, but asked the rules committee to include feigned injuries and "sucker" shifts as undesirable practices.

Munger declared Wednesday: "The coach can set the moral tone not only for his players but also the fans. It is the coach's duty to lead the way to the highest level of sportsmanship."

"Further, we must educate not only those coaching and playing football, but newspaper, radio and television men, who have such a great influence, to educate the public as to what is right and what is wrong—what is smart football and what is unsportsmanlike."

Gerry Staley of the Cards won his first game and a new suit of clothes in Cincinnati. Manager Eddie Stanky, moaning over his pitiful pitching, in desperation offered the new suit to the first hurler to stay the distance. Staley immediately responded with a nine-inning eight-hitter.

Stanky wasn't around for much of it. He was chased in the third inning by Umpire Bill Jackowski for making rude gestures after being warned to stay within the lines of the coaching box.

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's biggest winner last year, won his second straight with the help of a three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and a two-run blast by Joe Adcock. Adcock may not be on ad much longer. He received orders Wednesday to report for an Army physical May 28.

Stengel Will Try For First All-Star Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees will try for his first managerial triumph in five straight All-Star games in baseball's 21st mid-summer classic at Cleveland July 13.

Stengel's acceptance of the American team's All-Star reins automatically following his Yankees' fifth straight pennant and World Series triumph last season was announced today by Will Harridge, league president.

Walter Alston, successor to Charley Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was chosen weeks ago to direct the National League All-Stars.

Against the combined talent of the National League, Stengel-managed American League All-Stars have been beaten four straight years.

Syracuse Rejects Detroit Cage Bid

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The $150,000 offer by a Detroit advertising agency for the franchise of the Syracuse Nationals basketball team was unanimously rejected by the club Wednesday night.

The meeting was called because of a deadline set for the refinancing of the club by local interests for $200,000. This goal was announced a month ago by President Daniel Bionese and Executive Vice President Leo F. Ferris.

Bionese said $148,000 of the new shares had been subscribed and expressed confidence that the remaining 52 shares would be sold before the next directors' meeting May 5.

State Cage Tourney Sets All-Time Attendance Mark

LANSING (AP)—The total attendance and receipts of the 1954 state high school basketball tournament were the highest on record, the state High School Athletic Assn reported today.

The total attendance at the district, regional and state final tournaments was 381,023, topping the previous high of 374,410 set last year.

Total gross receipts for the district, regional and final games was $258,492. The previous high, also set in 1953, was $250,647.

Competing schools received $44,837 of the total and entertaining schools received $60,021.

Listed as other expenses were $12,237 for trophies, medals, administration and miscellaneous expenses; $24,154 for fees and expense allowances paid officials; $4,029 for fees paid timers and scorers; $2,242 for basketballs and

The Escanaba Babe Ruth League will be reorganized for the 1954 season at a meeting tonight at 7 at Club 314.

Officers will be elected and plans made for the season. Junior baseball and the new junior softball program will be discussed.

Officers of the Escanaba Softball Association have been invited to attend the session.

Spartan Baseball Team In Easy Win

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's baseball team, after two non-conference victories, faces tougher opposition Friday when it meets Northwestern in a Big Ten opener at Evanston, Ill.

The Spartans scored an easy 9-3 victory over the University of Detroit Wednesday after defeating Wayne University earlier this season.

Yacht Club Lists Season's Events

Although such events as the Port Huron-to-Mackinac Island and Chicago-to-Mackinac Island races gain more attention nationally, yacht owners along the northern shore of Lake Michigan enjoy a full schedule of summer events that attract followers from throughout the Upper Peninsula, Lower Michigan and Wisconsin.

Yacht events are held here, at Gladstone, Menominee, Green Bay and other harbors along Lake Michigan. They include trophy series, cruising races, sailing parties, regattas and just general get-togethers.

Gaining in popularity each year is the annual "Blessing of the Fleet" ceremony in picturesque little Fayette on the Garden Peninsula. This is scheduled for Sunday, July 18.

The "big races" to Mackinac Island are slated for July. The Port Huron-to-Mackinac event begins July 17, while the Chicago-to-Mackinac contest gets underway July 24.

The Escanaba Yacht Club, which will open the season with a "launching party" and supper at the clubhouse on May 31 has compiled the following schedule of events for the 1954 season:

June 9—Opening of Mitchell Trophy Series (Prams).

June 17—First race—Gust Asp Trophy Series (Seagulls).

July 2—Second race—Gust Asp Trophy Series.

July 15—Sunset sailing party.

July 17—Sail and power event to Fayette.

July 18—Blessing of the Fleet at Fayette.

July 20—Final race for Gust Asp Trophy.

July 21 and 22—Eliminations for Gessner Trophy (Prams).

July 25—Midsummer regatta (Prams, Seagulls and other classes); finals for Gessner Trophy; pre-cruising race supper at clubhouse.

Pro Cage Bosses Eye Fabulous Bevo Francis

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of the National Basketball Assn. convene here today for the first of a three-day meeting with the eligibility of Bevo Francis and possible franchise shifts among the matters to be discussed.

The 6-9 Francis, a scoring sensation for Rio Grande for the past two seasons, recently was expelled from the Ohio college for failing to attend classes. The Syracuse Nationals reportedly are interested in acquiring his services.

Under current NBA rules, Francis would not be eligible for league competition until his class graduates in two years.

Both the Syracuse and Baltimore clubs have had financial difficulties and there have been reports that their franchises are in jeopardy.

Hal Newhouser Tries Comeback

DETROIT (AP)—Hal Newhouser, one-time hero to thousands of Michigan baseball fans and bulwark of the Detroit pitching corps for 15 years, is making a comeback bid with the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez says it is possible Newhouser may get a starting assignment against the Detroit Tigers at Briggs Stadium in the three-game weekend series.

Will a Newhouser in a Cleveland uniform be any better than the one who surrendered his Detroit uniform last year? Lopez thinks so. Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager, holds the same opinion.

Newhouser was cut adrift in mid-season last year by the youth-minded Detroit front office when it appeared his once potent left arm had lost its lashing effectiveness.

But a determined Newhouser wasn't through with baseball. He appeared at the Cleveland spring training camp this year and drew quick praise from Lopez and an eventual contract from Greenberg.

Newhouser also was encouraged by the seeming return of strength to his aching money arm.

He told his former teammates in Cleveland last week: "My arm feels as good as it ever did. I'm throwing hard and have good control. It looks pretty good to me—although I don't know how long it will last."

During the off season Sid Gordon, now of the Pittsburgh Pirates works as a salesman in a clothing store.

The youngest boxer ever to win the heavyweight title was Joe Louis. He was 23 when he won the championship from Jim Braddock.

Manistique Track Team Opens Season Saturday

MANISTIQUE—The Emerald track squad of Manistique high school will open its season Saturday afternoon when an estimated 30 will compete in a dual match at Newberry.

Manistique has 56 youths out for track this season, a number larger than last year, but on a par with the overall average for the past several years. They are coached by Rudie Brandstrom.

A number of MHS trackmen look good, Brandstrom reports, and more rural youths are participating than in past years.

The Great Lakes Conference matches will be held in A. F. Hall stadium here May 8. Gladstone, Ishpeming, Manistique, Munising, Marquette, Negaunee, Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie will be represented in conference competition.

Sault Ste. Marie won the conference championship in 1953 with 49½ points and Manistique was second with 38½ points. Marquette trailed in third with 30 points.

See New Marks In Relay Test

DES MOINES (AP)—The Drake Relays open Friday with seven final events and eight preliminaries for the college and university athletes.

Wes Santee, the fabulous Kansas distance runner who raced through a 4:03.1 mile at the Kansas games last Saturday, will make two appearances Friday afternoon.

Santee, who is staying out of the mile to anchor four Kansas teams, will show in the university sprint medley and the university and college four mile relay. New records are likely if conditions are right.

A new mark also is expected in the two mile run Friday. Rich Ferguson of Iowa, Gene Matthews of Purdue and Dennis Myers of the University of Washington appear capable of wiping out the 9:10 record by Greg Rice of Notre Dame in 1939. Ferguson did 9:02.7 to win the NCAA title last summer.

Hanes Hosiery Wins Girls Cage Crown

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Hanes Hosiery of Winston-Salem, N.C., won the national championship girls basketball playoffs Wednesday night by handing Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., its first defeat in 33 games. The score was 46-39.

The Kansas City Dons took third place in the four-team meet, edging Dowell's Dolls of Amarillo, Tex., 53-51.

An all-star squad picked to represent this country in the French invitational meet at Marseilles in June includes: Lurlyne Mealhouse, Eunice Futch, Elsie Jordan and Mildred Little, all of Hanes; Ruth Cannon, Faye Wilson and Rita Alexander of Wayland; Barbara Sipes and Edith Kline of the Kansas City Dons and Jo Helen White of the Amarillo Dolls.

Underdog Jones Pins TKO On Gil Turner

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Television and Gil Turner are making life much easier for Bobby Jones, his four kids and his expectant wife.

Jones arrived in Philadelphia early last month for a 10-round bout with Turner. The 29-year-old Californian, unranked and a 3-1 underdog, won a split decision.

An accident, said Turner and his following. It couldn't happen again. It didn't. Instead of a split decision, the methodical Jones won on a 10th round technical knock-out here Wednesday night in the return bout. He was only a 2-1 underdog this time.

Violous Attack

So Jones leaves with his pockets lined with green stuff to take care of the little Jones kids and momma, and prospects of a big outdoor fight in June.

Jones, who weighed 154½, ended the fight at 1:12 of the final round. He caught the onrushing Philadelphia Negro with a right hand to the chin and drove a solid left to the body. Turner sagged, fell into the ropes as Jones smashed him with both hands. Blood streamed from a cut above Turner's left eye.

Bob Turley Is New Feller With Mound Speed To Burn

BALTIMORE (AP)—The belief that another Bob Feller is on the baseball scene in Bob Turley of the Baltimore Orioles spread considerably Wednesday night.

Turley stood the Cleveland Indians on their heads for eight and one third innings. He did it the way Feller used to for Cleveland, by whamming the ball past batters.

The 23-year-old tall and broad righthander blew down 14 batters on strikes and all of them without a hit up to the last two outs. It was for naught as when Al Rosen singled and Larry Doby homered for a 2-1 victory. But the future loomed large for the native of Troy, Ill.

Four Under Record

The 14 strikeouts were only four less than Feller's American League record set eight years ago on Oct. 2 against Detroit. It gives Turley 23 strikeouts in 18 innings, the other nine coming last Thursday in a 3-1 victory over Chicago.

Turley probably was less concerned about being deprived of a no-hitter than any of the 43,383 wild fans. Afterward in pajamas at home, he said "I wasn't worrying about the no-hitter, I just wanted to win the game."

He had no excuses.

At the start of the ninth, he said he decided that "if I'm going to lose, it's going to be with my stuff and my best is a fast ball."

Pitch Was High

"The pitch Doby hit was a little higher than I wanted, it was almost over his head, but I'd been pitching up high all the game to him.

"Rosen hit another high fast one, a little way from him. He reached out and slapped it. There was another pitch right where I wanted it."

Turley guessed that he "didn't throw a dozen pitches" that

Whitfield Will Make Mile Debut Saturday

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—Mal Whitfield won't even be lost in the hordes of young men whisking around in their underclothing at Franklin Field, April 24.

Making his first start in the mile—indoor or out—Whitfield will command the bulk of the attention in the Penn Relays.

The University of Pennsylvania athletic department went to considerable expense making the 60th edition of the celebrated Carnival something out of the ordinary. Murray Halberg, the New Zealand phenomenon with 4:04.4 on grass, is here. He should be faster on cinders.

So there will be someone running at Whitfield, the two-time 800 meters Olympic champion, in the Ben Franklin Mile. The old standbys, Horace Ashenfelter and Fred Wilt, hope to run for something more than the exercise.

Whitfield's coming out party in the mile will be closely watched by track addicts, many of whom claim that the slim speedster out of Ohio State and the Army has the natural ability to whip anybody at the distance. Included here is Whitfield himself. He has expressed the belief that he can make the 4:00-minute mile something more than a lot of talk. When he speaks like that, you've got to listen, for the Los Angeles Express is all athlete.

Whitfield has chosen an excellent showcase for his initial effort, and the show is furnishing competition. The Penn Relays are the nation's oldest and largest production of its type, with representatives of colleges and high schools from coast to coast and border to border participating.

Whitfield during the winter stepped up to run double events, the half and 1,000 yards and the half and 600. He twice won the half handily at Madison Square Garden.

Whitfield trained in southern California in the classic style—running cross-country.

"I changed my stride to a 2:02 half rather than the 1:52 I was used to knocking off," he explains. "The big problem in stepping up from the shorter distance to the mile is conditioning. You've got to get your system used to going twice as far as it was accustomed to. And when you consider the clockings I've said I can do, you fully realize that a fellow can't

Whitfield's showing in Philadelphia will be the tip-off on his future. If he produces a 4:10 or thereabouts, you can forget about him as a threat to the record for the mile. But if the trim stylist is anywhere in the vicinity of 4:06 or 4:07, it would be best, if you are a track bug, to have your bag packed ready to leave at a moment's notice if, say, a Wes Santee-Whitfield pairing is made.

You'll see something even more attractive at the National Amateur Athletic Union Outdoor Championships in St. Louis, June 18-19, when Josy Barthel, Luxembourg's Olympic 1500-meter champion, joins Santee, Whitfield and Halberg on the mark in his last outing in the United States. Sture Landqvist, the Swedish student at Oklahoma A. and M., is to run and Roger Bannister of England is expected.

This field may not produce a 4:00-minute mile, but Santee's American mark, 4:02.4, easily could be in danger.

were't plain fast balls. "That fast one was just sailing and sailing," he said.

It had struck out Doby twice before the homer. In the fourth, Turley showed his complete confidence in it. The bases were loaded, two out and the count was 3-1 on George Strickland. "So I just reared back and let her go."

Two strikes went by Strickland.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Matching of Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., and Joe Miceli of New York for a 10-round middleweight bout at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum May 29 was announced Tuesday night.

The bout is scheduled for the Saturday night preceding the Monday running of the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. It will be carried by the ABC television network.

Tom Morgan Hurls No-Hit Army Gem

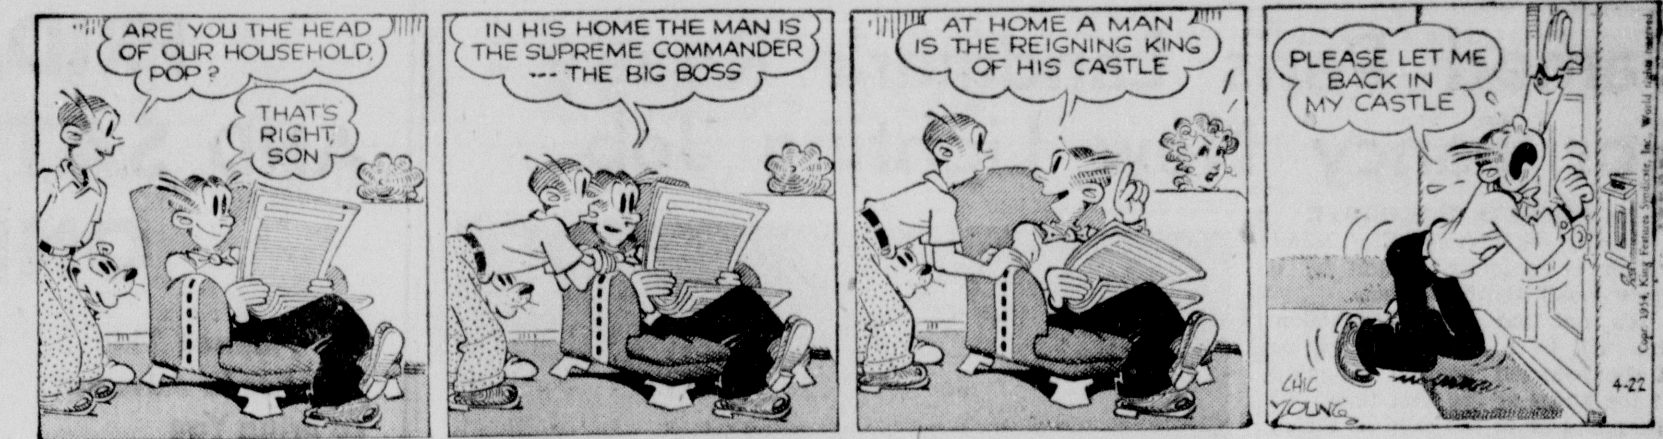

FORT SILL, Okla. (AP)—Tom Morgan, New York Yankee righthander awaiting his Army discharge, pitched a no-hitter for the 41st Group over the 77th Group in a Fort Sill baseball game Wednesday night.

Only two men reached first, on an error and a walk.

Morgan is scheduled to rejoin the Yanks in New York Tuesday.

Six members of the 1954 Michigan State varsity wrestling squad are home-town Lansing products, including Big Ten 167-pound champion Vito Perrone.

Famed Paris Landmark Ready For Fancy New Lighting Job

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
PARIS —(NEA)— The Eiffel Tower is shopping around for a "new look" lighting effect.
It's not yet decided whether this will be a full-length job or a short-skirted version—stopping at the knees or the first floor, but the grandson of the original Eiffel, who is an electrical engineer and on the board of directors, is in favor of a simple model.
This would cost around 250 million francs (approximately the cost of four of Dior's collections) plus 40 million yearly for upkeep. The management has rejected any advertising hook-up, despite the fact that it would reduce costs to practically zero.
When engineer Gustave Eiffel put the 2,500,000th rivet to his 975-foot Sun Tower, which proved the star attraction of the 1889 Paris Exhibition, he did not dream that 60 years later it would be high up on the tourists' list and also a great landmark.

Parisians of that era were divided into two camps—those for it and the others who considered it an eyesore, a blot on the landscape and an ugly heap of iron.
Eiffel saved his beloved tower by saying he was confident eventually it would render great services to science, which indeed it has. He himself occupied a small apartment up above the second platform until a few years before he died in 1923.

The Eiffel Tower still represents a great engineering feat. It took 14,000,000 pounds and 15,000 pieces of iron to build it, as well as two years and 40 draftsmen to draw the blueprints which are carefully preserved in the archives to this day.

Last year 1,204,000 people visited the Eiffel Tower. So far, however, the 1,968,287 entries of the year the tricolor was planted on its summit have never yet been exceeded.

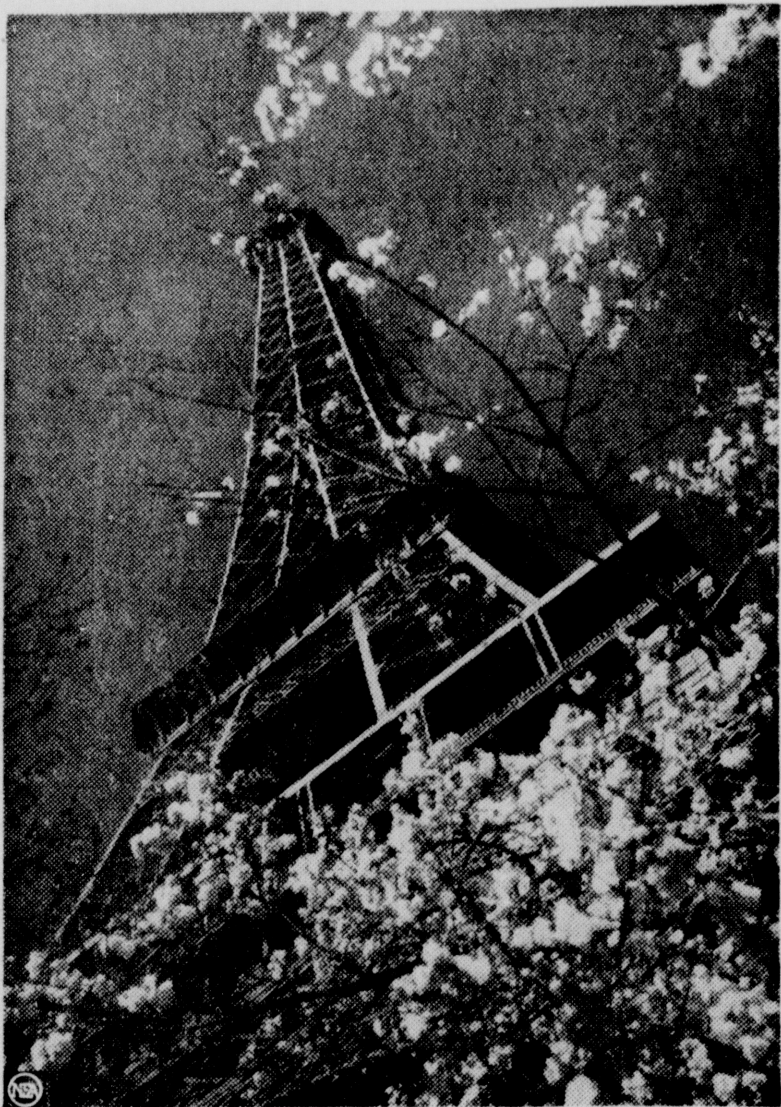

According to Director Pierre Charles Raffegeau, the majority of tourists take tickets to the third floor (900 feet). Here on a fine day the view ranges over an area of 50 miles.

With the help of a map, visitors can pick out Chateau-Thierry, the forest of Compiègne and Fontainebleau and other well-known landmarks, while nearer still they can follow the horse racing at Longchamps or Auteuil.

Raffegeau, a former Bank of France official, explains that the tower is owned by the city of Paris and leased to the holding company on a rental-plus-percentage basis. "We pay between 50 and 60 million francs yearly to the city," he estimates, "plus more than 40 million francs taxes to the government."

Raffegeau estimates that 5000 people visit the Eiffel Tower every hour. The elevators handle 3000 people in that time and the rest go on foot, undeterred by the 1585 steps to the third floor. But whichever way you go, the price is the same: $1.20 to the top, 71 cents to the second floor and 28 cents to the first.

Last year, Raffegeau had the honor of receiving his opposite number, William J. Keary, of New York's Empire State Building, and the tower celebrated its 25,000,000th visitor.

So far as Keary was concerned, although neither spoke a word of the other's language, they got on famously. They exchanged replicas of their respective "towers" and Raffegeau was invited to visit the Empire State Building. The prize for the 25,000,000th visitor was a four-seater Peugeot automobile. The director and his staff were on edge. They were within 25 numbers of the mark set when who should show up but one of the fabulously rich princes from Saudi Arabia with his entourage.

"As he is reputed to have 365 automobiles, one for every day of the year, it would really have been useless for him to win ours," says Raffegeau, shrugging his shoulders. The fates were kind, and the lucky winner was Emile Martin, a stonecutter from Northern France.

The Eiffel Tower was the first structure to be fitted with radio in Europe, and then with television. It is also a weather station for Europe and other points. In 1940, when the German army took over the tower, they found all installations, including the elevators, had been sabotaged and made useless.

The tower also has a "cosmetics" bill which comes pretty high. It has to be entirely painted every six years with three coats of paint. Last time the bill came to 35 million francs.

Some 90 people—mechanics, engineers, ticket collectors and guards—look after the tower. The souvenirs concessions, two restaurants and snack bar at the top are staffed by the lessees, and represent a yearly income of $31,000.

New Volcano In Belgian Congo

GOMA, Belgian Congo (P) — A new mountain is growing on the border between the Belgian Congo and the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda.

Feb. 21 the low saddle linking an extinct and an active volcano — the Nyaragongo and the Niamuragira — blew up with a bang that was heard 50 miles around and flames started to shoot out of the hole, mixed with ash and pumice. Lava poured out and ran down the mountain threatening an important road. A few days later, the new crater started to build a new cone of cinders and hot stones around the first hole.

The wild animals living fled, elephants and buffaloes wandering boldly through native villages and plantations, destroying everything in search of food.

PAY-AS-YOU-RIDE
RICHMOND, Va. (P) — Two toll roads—multi-lane, limited access, divided super highways will be built and financed with revenue bonds. One will bypass Richmond and Petersburg on U. S. route 1. Another will go across southwest Virginia from a point near Bluefield, W. Va., to Mount Airy, N. C., as part of a Lakes-to-Florida turnpike.
